

A direct marketing company recently advertised a sweepstakes with a grand prize of $5000 per week "FOREVER".

Assuming a nominal annual interest rate of about 5% per year (let's say 0.1% per week to make the math easy) how much would the company have to set aside in order to actually pay out $5000 per week forever?